

Imitation Products

Fox would like to express its gratitude to its thousands of customers for using its products. We believe in our products and their quality, and we back up that belief with a one-year limited warranty. Warranty Statement

We have become aware that certain companies who are not Fox authorized distributors or representatives have been selling products bearing the Fox trademark that are not authentic Fox products.

Fox can only offer its warranty for authentic Fox products, which can only be purchased through us and our authorized distributors and representatives, who are listed on our website under Representatives & Distributors.

We trust that when you purchase a Fox product you want the assurance that you are buying an authentic Fox product, backed by our product warranty. The only way to be sure is to purchase Fox products from us or one of our authorized distributors or representatives.

If you have any questions, please contact us through the Contact Us screen of this website.